A COMMON-SENSE FRAMEWORK FOR LOWERING PRESCRIPTION DRUG PRICES

Any solution to lower drug prices for patients and purchasers should actually do just that. We'll be using these questions to evaluate the extent to which proposals address this problem and enhance tools to negotiate lower net drug costs:

1 Does it raise or lower the price of a drug set by drug companies?

2 Does it increase or decrease premiums and out-of-pocket costs for patients?

3 Does it increase or decrease the net cost of drugs for employers and other purchasers?

4 Does it raise or lower costs for federal and state governments and taxpayers?

5 Does it provide a one-time price reset or does it increase competition and create sustainable downward pressure on the price of drugs over time?
